Zions Bank Renews Agreement with Neutron Enterprises' Stock-Trak Subsidiary and Expands Relationship

Neutron Enterprises Inc. ("Neutron") (OTCBB: NTRN) announced today that its Stock-Trak, Inc. ("Stock-Trak") subsidiary, a leading provider of stock portfolio simulations for the educational and corporate markets, announced today that Zions Bank, a subsidiary Zions Bancorp (NASDAQ: ZION), one of the nation's premier financial services companies, has renewed its stock market simulation license and expanded the use of Stock-Trak to offer periodic trading challenges on its corporate web site as well as promotional events to coincide with various marketing programs that Zions will launch over the next year.

In addition to the renewal of the stock simulation program for high school students, Stock-Trak will develop another trading simulation web site to compliment Zions' primary investment site, Zions Direct. The new site will provide individual investors an opportunity to simulate trading different products offered by the Bank. Zions already offers educational offerings for high school students through its "Bank HS" site www.bankhs.com.

"We believe that the renewal and expansion of our relationship with Zions Bank reflects the unique proposition we offer our clients that builds customer loyalty and enhances marketing initiatives," said Rory Olson, Neutron's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. "Zions Bank is the latest financial institution to recognize the role that Stock-Trak and its solutions can play in enhancing relationships with customers and employees."

About Zions Bancorp

Zions Bancorporation is one of the nation's premier financial services companies, consisting of a collection of great banks in select high growth markets.
